

Media Release

Kingston Frontenac Public Library
Jake Miller, Librarian, Adult Programming
613-549-8888 ext 3522
jmiller@kfpl.ca

FOR RELEASE JUNE 2, 2022

Tyendinaga author Sarah Brown-Dunkley brings poetry to life with author talk

Sarah Brown-Dunkley, a Mohawk Turtle Clan poet from Tyendinaga, has a strong belief in the teachings of peace, strength, and good mind: sken:nen, ka'sastenhsera, ka'nikonhri:yo. Her book, The Beauty After the Storm, reflects on those values, grief and self-discovery, and the recovery and reclamation needed to confidently walk toward the future.

On June 20, join Brown-Dunkley to learn about the influences behind her writing during an online author talk presented over Zoom from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Register at <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/6408698>.

"Our region has a wealth of creative talent," said Jake Miller, Librarian, Adult Programming. "Sarah was able to channel her personal experience into her creative efforts to produce The Beauty After the Storm, which is brave and brings her talents to the forefront."

For more Indigenous programming with KFPL, check out Testsi'nehtará:ron with Liv Rondeau (<https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/6718576>) and a dance performance by Tribal Vision (<https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/6264731>).

-30-