FOR RELEASE JUNE 20, 2022

Chat with and learn from newcomer youth in your community

Youth from the Immigrant Services Kingston and Area (ISKA) Multicultural Youth Group have faced many challenges along their paths but grew stronger along their way. Now, they want to share their stories with the community. As one youth shared, “Each one of us has a different story to tell, but we all have something in common — no giving up.”

Connect with newcomer youth from ISKA for an afternoon of half-hour, one-on-one discussions, aimed at encouraging community members to connect with and learn from one another.

Let's Chat: Conversations with Newcomer Youth is happening on June 25 from 2-4 p.m. outdoors at the Calvin Park Branch. In the event of rain, the event will move indoors.

Community members are welcome at this drop-in event, including teens, families and adults.

"Newcomers in our community have powerful stories to share about their experiences and dreams," said Kristen Lemay, Acting Manager, Programming and Outreach. "We invite the public to come and sit with the youth speakers to learn about their lives."
