

Media Release

Kingston Frontenac Public Library
Anne Hall, Local History Librarian
613-549-8888 ext 3528
ahall@kfpl.ca

FOR RELEASE DECEMBER 16, 2022

Dig into family history in the new year with Genealogy One-on-One Sessions

Make 2023 the year you learn your family's story. The Kingston Frontenac Public Library is offering Genealogy One-on-One sessions, each a 30-minute opportunity to connect online with KFPL's Local History Librarian Anne Hall to work on your family tree or other genealogy research.

These Zoom sessions will be held at 3:15 p.m. on Wednesdays from Jan. 18 through Feb. 22, 2023. Hall will help registrants answer questions and offer tips and suggestions.

"Libraries are a treasure trove of information for either beginning or experienced genealogists," said Hall. "These one-on-one sessions can help you dig deeper to overcome roadblocks and get practical advice to turn your curiosity about family history into results."

Registration for each weekly session will close one week ahead of the event. Hall asks that registrants share details about their question or problem while registering. Please — only one session per person.

Registration will open for all six sessions at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 31, online at ONE of the following links or by phone at (613) 549-8888:

- Jan. 18 - <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7555778>
- Jan. 25 - <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7593248>
- Feb. 1 - <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7593744>
- Feb. 8 - <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7594107>
- Feb. 15 - <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7594160>
- Feb. 22 - <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7594290>

A KFPL card is required to register, and those without a card can sign up online at register.kfpl.ca.

-30-