FOR RELEASE SEPTEMBER 13, 2023

Immerse yourself in Indigenous music with KFPL and local artists in September

Learn about the history, uses and craftsmanship behind Indigenous musical instruments! David Finkle, an acclaimed multi-instrumentalist from Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory, promises an unforgettable musical experience during an upcoming online program with Kingston Frontenac Public Library (KFPL), exploring musical instruments both past and present.

In a world where music transcends boundaries and cultures, Turtle Island Indigenous Music Throughout the Ages promises to be an exciting experience for anyone interested in Indigenous music, cultural events and integrating instruments into media like theatre and film.

“Cultural storytelling through music is a universal language that David Finkle speaks fluently,” said Jake Miller, Librarian, Adult Programming. “This session offers a unique opportunity for all of us to learn, respect, and celebrate the diverse musical traditions that enrich our world and to appreciate the instruments that make it all possible.”

The program is scheduled for September 28 at 6 p.m. and will be conducted via Zoom. Registration is required and can be completed at <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/9122065>.

For young music enthusiasts, don't miss KFPL's Ollin Drum Circle the following day, September 29. A program for kids ages 5-12 and their families, this is an opportunity to create, connect, and celebrate with a variety of drums, shakers and songs from across Turtle Island. Registration opens on September 16 at <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/8948232>.
