

Media Release

Kingston Frontenac Public Library
Cheyenne Stewart, Librarian, Teen and New Adult Services
613-549-8888 ext 3464
cstewart@kfpl.ca

FOR RELEASE FEBRUARY 7, 2023

Be inspired by YA author Sarah Raughley

As a YA fantasy author and academic, Sarah Raughley brings a unique perspective to the writing process. Discover her motivations, creative process, and thoughts on the publishing industry, and learn more about her writing during an online author talk with the Kingston Frontenac Public Library.

Raughley is the author of both The Effigies trilogy and The Bones of Ruin series and an assistant professor of writing at Lakehead University, Orillia campus.

Her author talk is happening over Zoom on February 16, from 4-5 p.m.

"Sarah Raughley is an inspirational academic and a captivating author," said Cheyenne Stewart, Librarian, Teen and New Adult Services. "KFPL will be providing the opportunity to meet with Raughley virtually, to hear her speak about her works and inspirations, and to be inspired in turn."

Register for the event at <https://calendar.kfpl.ca/event/7970996> or by calling 613-549-8888.

-30-