FOR RELEASE APRIL 28, 2023

Enjoy the sounds of summer with KFPL's Uke-Along for Adults series

Strum your way into summer with the Kingston Frontenac Public Library's Uke-Along for Adults series. The series will take place at the Isabel Turner Branch, with the first session on May 18.

Uke-Along for Adults features four sessions, each focusing on a different theme, including Disney music, The Beatles, Canadian artists and '80s sensations. Participants can learn and play a beginner to advanced beginner-level ukulele song during each 45-minute session.

"Our community loves the ukulele, and we're excited to offer this series for adults," said Jake Miller, Librarian, Adult Programming. "This is a chance for grownups to have just as much fun as kids by learning a few songs with our resident uke specialist, Meredith!"

All sessions will occur from 6:30 p.m. to 7:15 p.m. at the Isabel Turner Branch, and registrants are encouraged to bring their own instruments. Registration is required for each session; participants must register separately for each session they wish to attend.
